

Programme

Mind the gap – building bridges between Baby Boomers, Generation X and Millennials

Wednesday 31 January 2018 | London

The British workplace is undergoing radical changes but is your organisation at the forefront of the revolution or in danger of being left behind?

'Mind the gap' will bring together Millennials, Baby Boomers and Generation X-ers along with business people, researchers and housing leaders to provide some valuable insight into different attitudes towards work (and life) and investigate how to achieve a perfectly blended workplace fit for the future.

09:30 Registration and refreshments

10:00 Chair's welcome and introduction
Jon Land, HQN and Molly Bishop, 24housing/NHF Young Leader of the Year

10:10 Session title TBC
Mark Essex, KPMG

10:50 Why purpose matters – how to harness different generations to get the right mix of skills, knowledge and experience
Greg Reed, HomeServe Membership

11:30 Refreshments and networking

11:45 Session title TBC
Gareth Hexter (and colleagues), United Welsh

12:25 How and why – A Millennial at work
Molly Bishop, 24housing/NHF Young Leader of the Year and Stockport Homes

13:00 Lunch

14:00 Session title TBC
Barbara Spicer, Plus Dane Housing Group

14:40 From graduate to director – routes to success for future housing leaders
Nicole Seymour and Donna Williams, Sanctuary Group

15:15 Refreshments and networking

15:25 Capping aspiration: The Millennial housing challenge
Dr Stephen Green, Centre for Regional Economic and Social Research, Sheffield Hallam University

16:00 The workplace of the future – from mere productivity to max velocity
David McLeman, Ancoris/Google Cloud Solutions

16:30 Close