

Programme

Leading change

Tuesday 12 February 2019 | London

This workshop explores change from a variety of angles. Whether you are instigating change, and most of us are at some level, or dealing with change initiated by others, this session will look at core principles to consider how to make those processes more positive. The links to the Art of Leadership will be seen as we go deeper into how we achieve the balance between task and people whilst looking at emotional responses, culture, resilience, strategic thinking and relationship management.

09:30 Registration and refreshments

10:00

- The emotional journey of change
- What constitutes change in reality?
- How do leaders effectively respond to change

11:30

- The cultural impact of change
- Values, habits and institutional thinking
- An organisation's cultural web

13:00 Lunch

13:45

- Leaders personal responsibilities
- The four pillars of high performing teams

14:45

- Resilience within a changing world
- Area of influence and decision making
- Managing relationships

16:15 Close