Preparing for Brexit

Thursday 17th October 2019 | London

Deal or no deal, the Regulator for Social Housing is telling social landlords that stress-testing and preparing for worst-case Brexit scenarios is 'vital'.

As we get close to the likely date for our withdrawal from the EU – how can you be 100% sure that your plans and arrangements have all bases covered and that you are prepared for the potential consequences?

Behind the hyperbole and whatever your views on the shifting sands of political decisions/indecision, there are tangible risk management and business continuity planning steps needed to prepare for the consequences.

HQN is teaming up with RW Consulting Solutions Limited for a fully immersive 'what if?' event which will throw housing professionals into a post-Brexit world and pose all sorts of challenges to help you confirm the effectiveness of your plans and arrangements.
