

Programme

Challenging the status quo Thursday 10 December 2020

Being a leader is not just about being a Chief Executive or a Senior Director. There are opportunities to lead all the time, even if you are not in a management position. This event will hear from some of those who have seized an opportunity to lead, benefitting themselves and their organisations in the process.

Some are still in the early stages of their careers leading on big internal projects, while others have risen from the bottom and now have a seat at the top table. What is that journey like? Sometimes it feels like a lifetime away, but with the right choices and application, it is not an unachievable dream.

11:00 Welcome from the chair of the day
Shauna Hutchinson, Resident Involvement Officer, Network Homes and 2019 Young Leaders winner

11:05 Why you don't need to be in a leadership position to influence change
Katie Barker, Grand Union HG and TBC

11:35 Being younger and on a board – my experience
Jimmy Orville, Abri Group board member and Development Manager at Homes England

12:00 Break

12:10 How to use your voice effectively
Joe Hughes, South Liverpool Homes and TBC

12:40 How to go from Young Leader to top table
Katie Bond, Notting Hill Genesis Development Director and TBC

13:20 Break

13:30 Housing's Next Generation final
Alistair McIntosh, HQN CEO; Shauna Hutchinson, Resident Involvement Officer, Network Homes and 2019 Young Leaders winner; Matthew Walker, Chief Executive Leeds Federated HA and PlaceShapers Chair and Scott Summers, CEO FuzzLab

14:25 Conclusions from the day and close